LEARNING ABOUT INTERNET DANGERS

Tuesday was Safer Internet Day and our schools were learning all about different aspects of the internet. The focus this year was on Consent and it works in an online context.

Classes looked at the idea of consent within a social media setting, discussing what they thought of sharing photos and videos of someone else without asking them and agreed they would not like people doing it to them.

They also looked at the age limits of social media platforms and discussed privacy settings.

Finally they put forward ideas of what might be put into an ICT agreement for students.

If you have any concerns over your child's internet usage along with hints and tips please visit <https://www.internetmatters.org/>
